"The Butterflies" Score a Success.

It would be hard to say who was the real star in the cast of "The Butterflies," which was presented to a good house in Winston Hall last night.

Probably no amateur performance of equal merit has ever been seen here, certainly none to exceed it.

Not a single false note marred the performance, and the work of Misses McCormick, Thomas, Moore and Baldwin, and Messrs Whiting, Glover, Carlisle, Moore, Crown and Foley was a genuine revelation of the ability of our local amateurs.

Hiram Green, a newly-rich widower (Mr. Eugene Glover), is in love with Mrs. Ossian, his guest (Miss Gertrude McCormick), whose property is in a confused state owing to the extravagance of her son, Frederick (Mr. Percy Crown).

Green persuades Bilser, Fred's tailor (Mr. Joseph Moore), to press him for an account due, as an object lesson of extravagance.

Susanne, Green's pretty daughter (Miss Nannie Thomas), and Andrew Strong, a wealthy but bashful Englishman (Mr. Herbert Whiting), are in love. Green encourages the suit.

Mrs. Stuart-Dodge, a society woman of small means (Miss Portia Baldwin), wishes her daughter, Miriam (Miss Elvira Moore), to marry Barrington, Green's snobbish son (Mr. Holmes Carlisle), but fears that Fred Ossian will win her, as he had previously saved her from a watery death. Ossian, being poor, is objectionable. Coddle, the English butler in Green's palatial home (Mr. Lionel Foley), plays his part well.

The delineation of Hiram Green by Mr. Glover is a real work of art, and his love-making to Mrs. Ossian, and her diplomatic coquetry, is well worth the admission price.

Really, it's a pity Mr. Moore has chosen another vocation, as he would have made a success as a collecting-tailor. If you don't believe it, go see him tonight, and hear his insistence for the money due from Mr. Crown.

Mr. Crown's portrayal of Fred Ossian, the extravagant lover, is like-life in its interpretation, and Miss Moore as Miriam Stuart-Dodge is one of the prettiest and most winsome little sweethearts imaginable.

While the play is a comedy, it has sufficient of the serious and sober side of life to make it perfectly balance, and in the end all is right between the lovers, and the unworthy come to their just deserts.

As we said before, all the parts were "star" parts as portrayed by the different members of the cast, and Miss Nannie McGuire deserves great credit for her work in drilling the company to such a high state of perfection.

The play is by Henry Guy Carlton, and has been presented by some of the best actors of the present day.

The performance will be repeated tonight, and if the audience is measured by the success which was last night so well won, the house will be taxed to its capacity.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

The Sound Sleep of Good Health

The restorative power of sound sleep cannot be over estimated, and any ailment that prevents it is a menace to health. J. L. Southern, Eau Claire, Wis., says: "For a long time I have been unable to sleep soundly nights, because of pains across my back and soreness of my kidneys. My appetite was very poor and my general condition was much run down. I have been taking Foley's Kidney Pills but a short time and now sleep as sound as a rock. I eat and enjoy my meals, and my general condition is greatly improved. I can honestly recommend Foley's Kidney Pills as I know they have cured me." J. C. Jones, Millwood; Green & Co., Boyce, Va.

Clarence Copenhaver Killed.

A message was received last Thursday by Mr. Chas. F. Copenhaver, of White Post, telling him of the sad death of his nephew, Clarence L. Copenhaver, of Roanoke, as a result of an explosion which occurred in the laboratory of the Carolina, Clinchfield and Ohio Railroad at Irwin, Tenn.

Mr. Copenhaver, who was a young man of high standing, was a son of the late George W. and Mrs. Virginia Castleman Copenhaver, and was born 28 years ago at "North Hill," the old Castleman homestead on the Shenandoah river, where he spent his boyhood days, afterward moving with his parents to Roanoke, where he had lived until six months ago, when he accepted a position with the C. & O. R. R. and went to Irwin, Tenn.

High School Curtain Assured.

With the addition of a percentage of the performance of "Peppery Pa" at Boyce last Wednesday night, the High School Committee now has approximately $80 for the purchase of the new curtain for the stage in the Auditorium, and it is hoped to have the curtain in place before the closing exercises are held.

Miss May Morrison deserves especial credit for her tireless efforts in the presentation of "Peppery Pa" here and at Boyce, by every member of the company did sterling work.

Miss Jane Moore assisted with the piano, and her work was of incalculable aid to the company.

The COURIER feels a deep interest in the Auditorium improvement, for this paper started the subscription which resulted in the purchase of the chairs for that hall, and we are glad to see the continued improvement, although we think the School Board should furnish the finances without the necessity of the children giving up their time and talent to secure the funds.

Loudoun Mutual Elects Directors.

At the annual meeting of the policy-holders of the Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Loudoun County, held at the company's office in Waterford on Monday of last week, the following Board of Directors were elected for the ensuing year: C. C. Gaver, R. H. Gray, S. N. Brown, Thomas Keith, T. D. Gold, Daniel T. Wood, P. S. Gochauer, A. W. Phillips, W. O. Russell, R. R. Walker, E. B. White, E. M. Lovell, and Edgar McCray. There were about 96,000 votes cast (nearly all by proxy) the winning Board of Directors receiving 68,000. While the contest was a determined one, it was conducted harmoniously, and the result means the election of the old Board, with two exceptions, that served and managed the company's affairs until the unexpected change of a year ago. The election of officers for the company will be held in May.

Rock Blasting Goes On.

The rock blasting in preparation of the grounds for the new Norfolk & Western station, continues unabated, and it is thought there will be at least another week of work in the rocks.

The genial "Pat" Mallory has done good work with his force in the rocks, and has been complimented by railroad men for energy on the work.

The Western Union and Railroad wires are being moved to the East side of the track, commencing at the turnpike crossing, and will continue on that side until above the new depot, when they will swing back to the West side of the track. This change will be a great improvement, as it will remove all obstructing wires and poles from the West side of the track between the turnpike and the new depot.

Sad Death of Little Boy.

Joseph Pulliam Bell, the 8-year-old son of Mr. Jas. H. Bell, died Saturday night shortly after midnight at Dr. Tucker's Hospital, following an illness of only a day.

The little fellow was a student at Marvin public school, and came home on Friday apparently in full health and spirits. He became seriously ill the next morning, and was at once brought to the Hospital here, where death ensued that night.

Since his death it is said to have been learned that he suffered a fall at the schoolhouse on Friday at noon, and it is thought the fall injured him internally and caused death.

The remains were removed to the undertaking rooms of John H. Enders and prepared for burial, the funeral being held from the house Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. J. T. Williams, of the M. E. Church, South, officiating.

Interment was made in the family plot in Green Hill Cemetery.

One Conductor who was Cured

Mr. Wilford Adams is his name, and he writes about it:—"Some time ago I was confined to my bed with chronic rheumatism. I used two bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy with good effect, and the third bottle put me on my feet and I resumed work as conductor on the Lexington, Ky., Street Railway. It gave me more relief than any medicine I had ever used, and it will do you good in cases of rheumatism." Foley's Kidney Remedy cures rheumatism by eliminating the uric acid from the blood. J. C. Japanese Bazaar a Success

Mrs. Hammond desires to express her appreciation of the hearty cooperation of the friends who so kindly aided her in making the Japanese Bazaar a success.

Many beautiful and useful articles came from Washington, Pittsburgh, New York and other places, with words of encouragement and good will which savored of the Christ-spirit in the cheerful giving. Thanks are due the friends who furnished many of the needed and substantial supplies; to several of the local merchants for contributions and generous reductions in price of purchases, and especially to Mr. P. M. Ricamore for first cost on imported Chinaware, and to Mr. E. G. Coier for the added courtesy in giving the gratuitous use of the room. Roy Whitaker deserves more than ordinary praise for his efficiency in carrying out the Japanese pagoda scheme in the building of the booths, as he combined well the two-fold office of carpenter and electrician. The artistic decoration of the pagodas and of the room throughout was the result of the untiring and interested efforts of Mesdames B. O. Grove and Province McCormick. Mrs. George Rice, Misses Gertrude McCormick, Portia Baldwin, Annie Striblin and Ethel Foley presided over the several booths, and their picturesque costumes and attractive personnel drew willing customers and made success doubly sure. The equally attractive young girls of the tea-room must also have words of merited commendation. Among these were Misses Nellie Pfister, Margaret Moore, Bessie McCormick, Elvira Moore and Nan Thomas. Last, but not least, came the competent "queens of the culinary department," Mesdames Osborne and Elder, by whose capable direction the delectable dinners and luncheons were served. The climax of the entire affair was capped by the amusement and entertainment afforded by the two renowned "Joes," who, with the aid of the Berryville Brass Band, led many to a slaughter of prices of the unsold articles. Those who generously patronized the Bazaar may be interested to know that the receipts from sales and gifts were $176.12. Expenses, as per vouchers, $26.71. Balance, $149.71. This amount will be sent to the "Bell Home," in Anacostia, D. C., which cares for homeless children and waifs, and has need of immediate aid. The celebrated Phillips Brooks may appropriately be quoted here: "He who helps a child helps humanity with a distinctness, with an immediateness which no other help given to human creatures in any stage of their human life can possible give again." And in the words of our Blessed Lord Christ, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these, ye have done it unto me."

In conjunction with the Bazaar there was a sale of flowers, the proceeds of which were for another purpose, and netted $8.60.
